

These men (and this woman) are dangerous

They shoot to kill old ideas, hackneyed stories, cliché dramas, tired laughs. They aim for the new. For the bold. For the unexpected. They shoot exciting, wonderful, individual pictures that bear their brand. One of a kind movie-makers, all of pioneer stock. We at United Artists are always looking for killers like these. Killers with fresh ideas and bold thoughts. Such killers get all the ammunition they need from us.

For the past fifty years we've done whatever was bold in motion pictures, with whoever was bold in motion pictures.

The next fifty years will be even more adventurous. We don't just make motion pictures. We make tomorrow.
